The Einhell TC-IT 550 infrared thermometer is a practical helper in the home and in the workshop and allows fast and precise temperature measurements of everyday objects. Temperatures between -50 °C and +550 °C can be measured continuously via a laser point. The measuring point is determined via a clearly visible laser point. The work range is between 0.3 and 1.2 m. Before each measurement, you can choose between three different levels of emissivity. Thanks to the backlit LCD display, the reading is displayed clearly. The temperature display can be toggled between °C and °F.
