The Full Boar 125mm 1500W Wall Chaser is designed for cutting channels into concrete and masonry for the installation of piping, cables and conduits.

The integrated guard adjusts to suit various cutting depths to ensure maximum dust removal and provides a safer working environment when connected to an efficient dust extraction unit. The 5 cutting widths can be changed to suit the installation and the front guide roller provides additional support during use.

To prevent overload, a maximum of 15mm depth is required for the first cut.
